Dear Sister

This morning's mail brought your letter, written March 19, in regard to red cayenne pepper. We do not have in Sister White's writings any specific mention of one kind of pepper <sup>over</sup> ~~or~~ another, nor does she recommend pepper either as a food or a medicine for internal use.

Neither does she give us any information in regard to aluminum cooking utensils. There have been a few who have had a burden along the line of the ill effects of the use of aluminum in cooking. I have talked with Doctor Flaiz about this, and I think he is in a good position to answer this question, as well as the other, from the standpoint of scientific fact. I am therefore passing your letter on to him with the request that he write to you on the two points.

Sincerely your brother,

Arthur L. White, Secretary
